

YAGP WORKSHOPS BOUND FOR AUSTRALIA

Posted on: 8/7/2016 8:15AM

Exciting news! The prestigious Youth America Grand Prix (YAGP) recently announced that it will host workshops in Australia for the first time this year as part of the 2017 Season's International Semi-Finals.

Joining the ranks of other international countries like Brazil, Japan and France, Australia and Korea will welcome YAGP workshops for the first time in 2016.

Young Australian ballet dancers should save the following dates for each city: October 21 for Brisbane; October 22 for Melbourne; and October 23 for Sydney.

For further information, visit <http://yagp.org>. Dance Informa will keep you apprised as more details are released.

To read our recap of the 2016 YAGP Finals, head to dancemagazine.com.au.

Photo: Australian dancer Makensie Henson of Prudence Bowen Atelier, who competed in the 2016 YAGP NYC Finals and won third place for senior women. She's now going to The Royal Ballet School starting in September. Photo courtesy of Prudence Bowen Atelier.